

Nancy Land McCurtin

The Artist Who Sees with Her Heart: From Sudden Sight Loss to "BlindBrush&Pen"

"I didn't lose my vision; I only lost my sight."

In 2016, Nancy Land McCurtin's world went dark overnight. A massive stroke claimed her eyesight, but it couldn't touch her creative spirit. Today, Nancy is a celebrated "tactile artist" and author, using specialized tools and a "spiritual eye" to create vibrant paintings and the beloved Topsey children's book series. Her story is a masterclass in resilience, showing audiences that when one door closes, the soul finds a window.

Core Speaking Topics & Interview Themes

- The Art of the Pivot: How to reinvent your identity when life takes away your primary "tools."
 - Painting in the Dark: The fascinating technical process of creating visual art through touch, texture, and memory.
 - Topsey's Lessons: Using storytelling (The Topsey Series) to teach children about kindness, courage, and navigating "deep waters."
 - The Neuroscience of Creativity: How the brain adapts to trauma to keep the creative spark alive.
 - Faith & Fortitude: Finding the light within when the world outside goes dim.
